Linking Nature and Culture for Sustainable Livelihoods: Establishing a Marine Protected Area around Mozambique Island

Dr. Georgia Holly
University of Edinburgh

Tuesday, May 9, 2023 at 7 pm (UTC + 3)

In this lecture, Dr. Holly will discuss the links between the marine environment, shipwrecks, living heritage, and community on the Island of Mozambique, by presenting early survey results from the most recent field season in March, 2023. Lessons learnt in combining scientific and traditional knowledge within environmental management practices in the Global South will be shared, alongside the potential for biocultural heritage to play a defining role in both heritage and biological conservation.

For information you may also consult the KUDAR website, https://kudar.ku.edu.tr/arit-ina-kudar/.

Zoom lecture registration:
https://us06web.zoom.us/meeting/register/tZwrceCpqj0pHNZSkid1wl5VS6tHf_jEHhy9

INSTITUTE OF NAUTICAL ARCHAEOLOGY
AMERICAN RESEARCH INSTITUTE IN TURKEY
Koç Üniversitesi Mustafa V. Koç Deniz Arkeolojisi Araştırma Merkezi
KUDAR
Koç University Mustafa V. Koç Maritime Archaeology Research Center